

DITCH LAW HELD UNCONSTITUTIONAL

The new ditch law that was enacted by the legislature nearly two years ago has been held unconstitutional by the Court of Appeals in several counties.

In this county the County Commissioners have held up all ditch work that has been planned, waiting for a decision, so that they may know under what law they are to operate.

The new law being enacted and put into force repealed the old law and the County Commissioners will not allow any ditch work to proceed until they know just what law they are to operate under.

There are a good many ditches pending before the Board at the present time, some of them have been surveyed and planned. Some of them are ready to be sold, but until they know where they are at, the Commissioners are prone to act.

The new law carries to much burden on the taxpayers who must have ditches on their farms, and we believe a more fair law could be enacted. This law was enacted under a democratic administration and it is some more of the willful waste they have been charged with.

The County Commissioners or County Surveyor cannot be blamed for the law, they can only abide by the laws that are enacted, and we believe it is a good thing if this new ditch law would be repealed.

BASKET BALL

The Wauseon High School Basketball team journeyed to Montpelier last Friday where they defeated that team for a second time this season.

The game was an up hill battle all the way and the local boys had trouble in hitting the basket but in spite of this fact they defeated their opponents 32-17.

The basket ball fans really expected a hard fought battle as the Montpelier team played a hard game here several weeks ago and kept the local team guessing, but when the second half was finished, the local boys had nearly doubled their score.

Defiance Tournament

The Basket Ball Tournament will be held at Defiance, March 10-11. The Wauseon High School Basketball team will enter this tournament and we are sure they will give a good account of themselves.

There are over 35 teams entered in this tournament and some of the best teams in Northwestern Ohio will be entered. Plan on going.

LIVING TO BE 100

In spite of the fact that some people say life is not worth living they are always anxious to know how those who reach 100 manage to do it. As it is, no two recipes for long life agree. Some of these giddy old things chow tobacco and drink a bottle of booze after every meal, while others live on starch and boiling water. Apparently it doesn't matter a bit what you do as long as you persevere. The only thing is that you have to try a thing for a hundred years or so to see whether it suits your constitution. The latest method of reaching 100 is that of Mrs. Anna Grump, who died recently in an eastern state at the age of 104. She was married but she left her husband on her wedding day, and never saw him again. So now you know—but somehow it is thought that this method will not become popular among many of our girls.

SHERIFF'S SALE

I will offer for sale at the Morningstar Garage, on Saturday, March 25, 1922, at 2:00 p. m., one Ford touring car, 1916 model, confiscated from J. W. Kissell. Terms of sale, cash.

W. R. Ford, Sheriff

It looks as though 1922 will not be as profitable as 1921. More damage by fires in one month this year than all of last year.

MEMORIAL

The undersigned, having been appointed at a special session of the Fulton County Bar, held Wednesday, March 1st, 1922, as a committee to prepare a suitable memorial respecting the life and services of our former fellow member, Henry H. Ham, desire to submit the following report.

"And we are mortal, born of mortal seed." The solemn truth of these words grows ever more vivid as one by one the companions of our youth and manhood, with increasing haste, go from us to return no more. Only yesterday they were here, feverishly busy as now are we in the affairs of this life; today their abode and activities are beyond human ken and our only connection with them is that established by memory.

How fitting then that friends surviving and in tenderness and sympathy preserve by written memorial the virtues and attainments of those thus lost to earth.

The subject of this memorial, Henry H. Ham, together with his brother, T. F. Ham, who survives him, came to this county on June 26th, 1870, and began the practice of law in Wauseon. For nearly fifty-two years these brothers traveled the legal road together. A remarkable circumstance, which has few if any parallels in the Annals of Legal Practice in this county.

Henry H. Ham was endowed by nature far above the average of his colleagues. He possessed a splendid physique, a keen intellect and a magnetic presence. These attributes gained for him an enviable reputation as a trial lawyer. During the years of his active practice, he was connected with practically every important case at this Bar, and was also engaged in many leading cases in the adjoining and neighboring counties.

He proved to be a tower of strength to those who sought his professional advice and aid. His clarity of vision, his resourcefulness in difficulties, his unsurpassed labor, his eloquence before the jury, brought to a successful outcome many a confused and seemingly hopeless situation and turned into confidence the misgivings of clients, who at first could see ahead only loss and disaster.

In the performance of his professional duties he never failed to scrupulously observe his obligations as an officer of the court and gentleman, and he never once allowed his personal feelings to cloud his judgment or to treat with courtesy those in opposition, whether lawyer, party or witness.

He was especially considerate and cordial to the younger members of the Bar, and many who began their practice here will always bear him in grateful remembrance for his hearty words of encouragement, for his wise counsel and for his humane, helpful and kindly attention to all questions which they might care to present to him.

As a friend he was staunch and loyal; as a companion, delightful and stimulating. To associate with him was to grow in knowledge and discrimination concerning the best of both the past and the present, to broaden in human sympathy, to more highly prize the blessings of our form of government and realize the necessity of maintaining its fundamental principles and to have quickened the desire and intensified the purpose to live and serve in adherence to high ideals.

For years he was the senior member of our Bar and its president at the time of his death; and today the Bench and Bar of this and neighboring Counties, his acquaintances at large, as with a single heart, mourn their loss of one who while with them served so faithfully as officer of the court, helpful associate, public official, brilliant lawyer, wise adviser, loyal friend.

The undersigned committee would further suggest that this report, when adopted, be placed on the journals of the Common Pleas Court and of the Court of Appeals of Fulton County; that a copy be furnished the family of the deceased and that copies be furnished the press.

TAXPAYERS TIRE OF CONTINUOUS ROUND IN HIGHWAY REPAIRS

Reshaping and Shoveling Ripped Material Along Roadbed Begins to Mean Nothing

Pennsylvania Pursues Policy of Substantial Construction to Escape Maintenance Losses—Ohio Proceeds Along Same Line

The awarding of contracts for 1922 highway construction is proceeding at a satisfactory rate throughout the United States, according to advices received from State Highway Departments by the American Highway Educational Bureau. From reports so far received, 1922 promises to be a record year in reducing the dangerous gap between capital invested in motor vehicles and the amount invested in substantial highway truckage. In this gap it appears millions of dollars are being wasted in the continual maintenance of unsatisfactory road surfaces under the terrific impact of an increasing number of motor vehicles. Among the states that are seeking to eliminate excessive maintenance, Pennsylvania assumes a leading position this week in its proposals for substantial construction.

On February 28, bids will be opened at Harrisburg for new construction projects, a new project in part completed in twelve of these counties, reinforced concrete is called for in state specifications. In the two remaining counties concrete foundations are specified with either bituminous or concrete wearing surfaces.

On March 1, fourteen more state projects are to be started, eleven of which call for reinforced concrete, and these either a bituminous or concrete wearing surface on a concrete foundation.

New Jersey called for reinforced concrete on one state highway route on February 15 and calls are out for similar construction on another state project.

The policy of substantial construction as the only certain method by which highway funds may be used to the permanent benefit of taxpayers, and motor vehicle owners who are contributing to road construction in license fees, appears to be spreading throughout the country. More than ever the road using public seems less inclined to take general road construction reports at their face value. Mere boasts as to mileage constructed is beginning to count for nothing unless that mileage means that real roads have been built, roads that will last. Simply re-shaping a road or shoveling material back into place after it has been loosened by traffic has come to mean nothing to the taxpayer beyond revealing the continuous performance in highway repairs is as ludicrous as it is expensive.

In Ohio, where the state highway department has inaugurated a determined policy of substantial construction on main routes to insure safe investment of highway funds, great progress is being made in letting contracts for an early start on construction. It is expected that the projects for his year will be well under way by April 15.

Some attempts have been made in Ohio, as in other states, to check the program for substantial roads by issuing cost comparisons to show that road building is far from the pre-war level. In these comparisons it is not that neither width, thickness nor drainage is taken into account, the result being half truths of a character not designed to convey correct information to the taxpayer and road using public.

A feature of marked significance, as states are about to enter into construction for the new season, and one which bodes well for the taxpayer, is that the policy of substantial construction is being emphasized in an inclination on the part of highway officials to seek public approval by paying more heed to good construction and less heed to ill-informed political advice of the vote-catching type.

overlooked is the fact that one stone man in Toledo admitted that it was not safe to build stone roads on main market highways. He pointed out that the selling of our material and we can sell more when macadam roads are built, but, with traffic increasing as much as it has in the past ten years, heavier and more service roads have got to be built. There are different conditions existing and different roads should be built to comply with them. Some roads should be graveled, as they do not require as heavy traffic, and will last just as well. But where traffic is heavy, there is only one way to save the taxpayers money and that is to build hard surfaced roads.

This man is broad minded and can see the possibility of building the proper roads in the proper place.

RUSSIA

Dr. George H. Sisson Talks to Exchange Club

It was the pleasure of the Wauseon Exchange Club to listen to a very fine talk given by Dr. George H. Sisson, of Boston, Mass., last Friday evening. He just returned a few weeks ago from a several months sojourn with a mission in Russia.

Dr. Sisson left for Russia in August 1921. He was on a visit here with his son, Dr. W. H. Sisson, and the Exchange Club invited him to be a guest of the Club and give them a talk on Soviet Russia. This he did which was very interesting to everyone.

We are unable to give you all that he said in detail, but we can give you some of the facts that Dr. Sisson gave us first hand.

He said: "Russia is in a terrible condition today, but are not in as bad a condition as they were. In that the Bolsheviks are the ruler, the Soviet Government that rules Russia today is Bolshevik. This government under Trotsky and Lenin have an army of one million, six hundred thousand men, and they are not as we suppose they are, men with beards and long hair, they are clean cut soldiers. These soldiers are paid 6000 rubles per month, 40 cigarettes and a pound and a half of black bread a day. They must attend school or go without rations. To give one an idea of what the ruble is worth today, 100,000 rubles is worth only $1.00 in American money, before the revolution the ruble was worth 50 cents. Printing presses are running every day, printing money, until today they have more money than they know what to do with.

There is not a single commodity that they do not need in Russia. They need everything, and there is great opportunity to open up trade with them and I feel that U. S. should be the first to recognize the Soviet government because they have come to stay. This government has gold with which to pay and if U. S. don't open trade with them Japan will, as they are only looking out for two reasons, if Russia accepts them, Japan will step in and start trade immediately.

The people of Russia are of the don't-care feeling; this was caused by the government taking everything away from them. There is not a single person in Russia today that holds a title to a piece of land.

The people are idle due to the fact that they planted their seed one year and by the time it was ready to harvest the government came along and confiscated it.

A divorce in Russia is easy to get, if you don't like your wife, you go before an official, sign a paper and you are a free man.

The large cities of Russia are in a terrible condition. One city that was known as the Paris of Russia, and had a population of over one million, is in a terrible condition. The streets are all broken down and grass is growing in them, and the people are all falling to pieces.

The residents are just sitting around and waiting for something to happen and nothing happens. There are many cities that are the scene of devastation. In the Volga Region the people planted seeds and tilled the soil, when the crop was ready to harvest the Bolshevik government came along and took everything. One city that drought hit this region and no rain fell for months, this left them without anything and today this region is in a most pitiful condition. People are starving for want of food and clothing.

The railroad system in that country is broken down, there are not six good cars left. The road bed is in good condition, as labor is cheap and men are working hard to make a living. Most of the car seats have been removed and used to make clothing. When a train pulls into a station, the refugees rush to it and try to find some place to ride, they are bumped beneath the train and the wheels crush them but nobody seems to care for a life. They do not have to pay unless they have a seat, and to have a seat means that some one else has occupied the place before you have, some one with 4, 6 or 8 legs.

Russia has the greatest spy system in the world. It is what is known as the "Cheka." The Soviet government has imposed high taxes on its people. When they are unable to pay they are put in the "Cheka" and if they have no friends to bring them out they will starve to death, but the government feeds no prisoners. One lady tried to raise a small garden just for her own use, she was caught and fined 3,000,000 rubles, if she couldn't pay, she would be placed in the "Cheka."

This Soviet government is against profiteering. A Jew doctor was caught profiteering in quinine and was shot at sunrise.

Russia has plenty of exports, such as oil and vast forests of walnut. Gasoline can be bought for 6c a gallon.

A decree can be obtained to do business in that country in absolute safety and it would be a good time to invest in a manufacturing plant now. Siberia is not used for banishing prisoners from the country, but the "Cheka" is used in its stead. When it gets to full they shoot them. The churches are doing good work. One priest feeds 15,000 people every day. The school system is broken down, but they still have an age limit on attendance. The people are ashamed of Russia today and I hope some day they will be proud.

The ministers and other friends were invited to hear Dr. Sisson talk and every one thoroughly enjoyed him.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The question discussed by the City Council Monday evening was the gas situation. The Councilman Nappoleon spent $2100 on a survey of the gas plant and after a war of over a year with the Gas Co., they will have to pay $215 per thousand for the next two years. Wauseon is now paying $2.10 and they didn't pay one cent a survey. The sliding scale is in effect here and whenever coal goes down gas rates are lowered, and it is up to the Council to see that they are lowered.

The question of granting C. D. House and Son the right to place a corner and the Court House, which the Huber barber shop will be taken under consideration at the next meeting. Council refused others to place pump on Main street between Dimick's corner and the Court House, they should they allow one now after all others were refused.

Clean Up R. R. Grounds

The Council discussed the cleaning up of the Railroad Grounds across from Fink and Haumesser's corner. The rubbish, old chairs and barrels are to be removed and benches will be placed there instead. This is a great place for the old Civil War Veterans during the summer and should be fixed up to accommodate them and look respectable.

Water Works

Permission was asked by the Water Works Board to pay H. L. Merrill $100 per month for reading the meters and collecting water rent. He is now receiving $75. The Council, after discussion, decided not to allow a raise but to investigate the cutting of salary of S. B. Overmyer and the salaries now being paid, that the water rent can be reduced.

Donation to Hospital

The Council made a motion to donate $100 to the hospital for charitable purposes.

Just recently, the Hospital took care of a man with typhoid fever, who if it hadn't been for the care he received there, would have died; this institution needs money badly, as they haven't a dollar in their fund at the present time. If the Board had money they cannot separate. This donation couldn't be spent for a better purpose.

Mrs. Mary Domitio

Mrs. Mary Domitio is one of the older residents of this county who has seen the town grow from a small place with its mud streets to the beautiful little city that it now is.

Mrs. Domitio is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dolf, Sr., deceased. She was born in Germany and came to this country when a small girl. They landed at New York City and went from there to Cincinnati, O., where they made their home for many years.

It was while a young girl in this city that she attended a big celebration given for President Lincoln and she can remember where Mr. Dolf stood for hours waiting for the President to pass. When his carriage came near, it halted for a few minutes and she was privileged to shake his hand and received a cordial greeting from him. It was only a few days after this that the immortal Lincoln was shot. She can remember the time when the word was received of his assassination.

Her father was a staunch Republican and like her father she still stands for the good old G. O. P.

It was in 1866 that the Dolf family moved to Wauseon where Mr. Dolf went into the tailor business.

Mrs. Domitio spent her girlhood in Wauseon and after the Civil War she married Colonel Smith, as he was known to the older residents of Fulton County. She probably is better known around Wauseon than any other person.

She is a fine Christian woman and is very active.

Colonel Smith served three terms as Clerk of Courts and was one of the founders of The Fulton County Tribune nearly 40 years ago.

Mrs. Domitio probably has the distinction of being the only lady living who shook the hand of Lincoln. She says she is proud of it and it is a great thing to be at the depot, to think of these things that have passed so many years ago.

DESTRUCTIBLE FIRE

Fire nearly destroyed the J. E. Merrill house on East Chestnut Street last Friday night.

Mr. John Johnson who lives in the house, was away during the day, and returned late Friday evening. He built a fire in the furnace and went to the T. and I. Depot to meet Mrs. Johnson who was coming in on a late car. While he was at the depot, the neighbors discovered the fire in the basement of the house and immediately turned in the alarm.

The basement was filled with dry shingles and was making big headway for the main part of the building when the Fire Company arrived, in a few minutes a stream of water was directed on the blaze and within an hour it was held in control.

The closet in which Mr. and Mrs. Johnson had most of their clothing was directly in the path of the blaze and practically everything was destroyed.

The damage to the house was $1675 and the household goods have not as yet been adjusted.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were expecting to move in a few weeks to Leipsie, Ohio, where he had secured a position.

CAN YOU MIX YOUR OWN SPRAY MATERIAL?

Do you know how to make Bordeaux mixture? Or self-boiled lime-sulphur? Or tobacco decoction? You may need to make all these mixtures for your spring spraying.

How to make and when to apply all the well known fungicides and insecticides is described in a spraying program mailed free to Ohio farmers from the Ohio Experiment Station, Wooster.

Complete outlines are given for spraying apples, peaches, plums, cherries and garden fruits.
